COME TO LIFE – MAKERS

Sacha Kalis, @_bahamasgirl_ (About)

Underwater Dig model

Sacha Kalis, AKA Bahamas Girl, Alice in Waterland, and mermaid lives much of the time with her friends beneath the waves. Star(half)fish of underwater photography projects for art, education, advertising, fashion and movies. She was born and raised on a small island in the Bahamas where she learned to swim before she could walk. Her mother, an underwater photographer, encouraged Sacha's natural affinity for the world below the waves where she loves to swim with the dolphins, stingrays, manatees, turtles, and sharks.

Involved in Project Baseline, an international marine conservation group founded for the purpose of photographically documenting the state of the world's coral reefs and marine environments over sequential years to help measure their deterioration. This searchable database of images is available on the Project Baseline website to help concerned citizens around the world advocate for environmental improvement in their oceans, lakes and waterways.
